

October 4, 2017

Senator Claire McCaskill
Senator Roy Blunt
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator McCaskill and Senator Blunt:

Faith communities have a profound call to be guardians of God's creation and our communities' health. In particular, we are called to voice our concern about toxic pollution. As leaders in the religious community—across a broad spectrum of denominations and organizations—we are writing to convey our common conviction that protecting vulnerable people from toxic pollution sites is a priority. Superfund sites are of particular concern.

The Judeo-Christian traditions teach us that we are judged by how we care for those who are most vulnerable. This includes children, older adults, people with low-incomes, and communities of color. It also includes threatened and endangered species. Toxic pollution sites pose a particular risk to the air, soil and water of fence-line and neighboring communities. According to the Toxic Waste and Race study by the United Church of Christ¹, people of color are more likely than any other demographic to bear disproportionate and unjust health burdens of toxic pollution.

Across Missouri there are 27 Superfund sites located in both rural and urban areas. These sites, managed by the Environmental Protection Agency, require long-term response to clean up hazardous material contaminations.

To administer the Superfund Clean Up Program, the Environmental Protection Agency needs the necessary staff and funding resources to implement. The EPA's Superfund program is responsible for cleaning up some of the nation's most contaminated land and responding to environmental emergencies, oil spills and disasters. To protect God's creation and human health, it is vital that this important program be provided robust funding.

Across our community and across the country, religious leaders and people of faith have embraced the work of safeguarding ecological systems, so that the diversity of life can thrive—both human, and nonhuman.

In the coming days and months, as you help to shape key budget decisions regarding environmental issues – particularly clean air and water, as well as land protections – we urge you to be guided by a moral framework that includes responsible stewardship of God's creation, and meeting our moral obligations to protect vulnerable communities today, and future generations.

¹ Toxic Waste and Race at 20. United Church of Christ. Retrieved on September 7 at http://www.ucc.org/environmental-ministries_toxic-waste-20

Sincerely,

Rev. Dawn Martin
St. Anthony Medical Center
St. Louis, MO

Rev. Margaret O'Gorman
Richmond Heights, MO

Sr. Loretto Gettemeier
Daughters of Charity
Maryland Heights, MO

Sister Jeanne Derer
Franciscan Sisters of Mary
Bridgeton, MO

Rev. Carleton Stock
Northminster Presbyterian Church
St. Louis, MO

Rev. Elinor Jane H. Stock
Presbyterian Church (USA)
St. Louis, MO

Rev. Dr. John Shear
John Calvin Presbyterian Church
Bridgeton, MO

Rev. Dr. Clint McCann
Eden Theological Seminary
Webster Groves, MO

Most Rev. Francis Krebs
Ecumenical Catholic Communion
St. Louis, MO

Bob Hill
Disciples of Christ
Kansas City, MO

Rev. Wesley Knight
Christian Church (Disciples of Christ)
Columbia, MO

Rev. Nick Larson
Broadway Christian Church
Columbia, MO

Rev. William Rose-Heim
Christian Church (DOC) of Greater Kansas City
Overland Park, MO

Rev. Lara Blackwood Pickrel
First Christian Church
Smithville, MO

Rev. Dietra Baker Metropolitan Congregations United
Saint Louis, MO

Rev. William Ryan
Columbia, MO

Rev. Andy Beck
Hillside Christian Church
Kansas City , MO

Rev. Ryan Motter
Community Christian Church
Liberty, MO

Rev. Kim Ryan
Bethany Fellows
Columbia, MO

Sr. Margaret O'Grady
Good Shepherd Sisters
St Louis, MO

Sister Carol Boschert
Sisters of the Most Precious Blood of O'Fallon, MO
O'Fallon, MO

Rev. Joanie Levenson
Crossroads Church Kansas City
Kansas City, MO

Rev. J.B. Garris
Jerusalem Baptist
St. Louis, MO

Rev. Sammie Jones
Mt Zion Baptist
St. Louis, MO

Rev. Bobby Roberson
Corinthian Baptist
Kansas City, MO

Rev. Cornelius Osby
First Missionary Baptist
Hazelwood, MO

Rev. James Morris
Lane Tabernacle CME
St. Louis, MO

Rev. Renee Johnson
St Matthew CME
Kirkwood, MO

Rev. James Stewart
Murchison Tabernacle CME
Normady, MO